—Arch DeLoe and friend Vreeland say that hunting is not good on Telford Lake, Somerset, about 10 miles from the city, and is a fine one of from $1 to $200 on non-resident hunters. Tuesday, Arch, who is a great sportsman, tried it, but, unfortunately, took a Muskrat pinhook into his camp, gave him the inequality of his grub, with Kentucky condiments, and the Muskrat pinhook put Arch on the level "stomach," and he was no overworking with appreciation of Arch's grub, blanket, etc. That he left camp to get his "best dog" to aid in the hunt; when, lo! and behold, he went to the nearest magistrate, swore out a warrant, and had the constable to arrest him. It seems that under the law, if a hunter or prospector, get a hold of the fine. In this instance the fellow showed his stupidity and got nothing for his box was armed with authority from the magistrate, and he was arrested, and the magistrate very promptly dismissed the case. Arch, who has a fine dog, and a fine horse, he can buy such cattle for a quarter.

For Sale! On Sunday, Nov. 10th, I will sell a good lot of dry, to the highest bidder, on a credit of 60 days, with note and good security. H-2W W. T. BUCKNER.

—On a tombstone in a churchyard in England can be seen an epitaph in the following words:

Here lies the body of a man who was a great man in his day.

Here lies the body of a man who was a great man in his day.

Here lies the body of a man who was a great man in his day.

Here lies the body of a man who was a great man in his day.

Here lies the body of a man who was a great man in his day.

Here lies the body of a man who was a great man in his day.

Here lies the body of a man who was a great man in his day.

Here lies the body of a man who was a great man in his day.
